Cincinnati Hosts Bi-Annual Faith at Work Summit

The conference included specific talks about Christian ERGs in medium to large-size businesses, including these great points:

(1) The impact CERGs can have on the discipleship of those in the workplace who are not currently engaged in groups or community in their local church.

(2) The continuity and succession of the Faith and Work Movement through development of new CERG leaders and mentorship.

GE Aerospace Highlights Faith Network Leader

Joseph Moore highlighted on company site. “I was raised in a Christian household, and as I got older my faith became more serious to me.”

The Faith Network officially launched in November 2025 with Christian, Muslim, and Hindu chapters at 16 sites around the world. As part of his ongoing commitment, Moore now leads the global Christian chapter. Already, more than 330 members are signed on to participate in community service projects, Bible study groups, and prayer meetings.

Christian Employee Groups Making News!

Mastercard Launches Its Christian ERG!

Earlier this year, Louisa van Eeden and I founded and became the Co-Chairs of the Christian Employee Resource Group - London at Mastercard. For the last couple of weeks, we've been working with an amazing committee who bring so much energy and heart to building this community.

On Tuesday, we had a joint mixer with our Jewish ERG (co-chaired by Josh Berle and Amelia Barzilay). Nothing too formal - just food, drinks, and the chance to meet colleagues across both communities. There's something really special about faith and heritage communities coming together, learning from each other, and celebrating what we have in common as well as what makes us distinct.

Tomorrow, the Christian ERG London chapter will have our very first Bible study session, and I couldn't be more excited for the chance for us to learn and grow in our journeys with Christ together.

If you're at Mastercard and want to get involved, don't hesitate to reach out - everyone is welcome 🙌
